

KEYNOTE ADDRESS BY
DOUGLAS EGERTON,
LEMOYNE COLLEGE

CNYCSS is proud to welcome Dr. Egerton, preeminent scholar of the American South, as our keynote speaker. Dr. Egerton has written numerous books and articles on race and politics in 19th century America and, through his scholarship, he continuously seeks to explore how the undercurrents of history shape our modern age. In this talk, Dr. Egerton examines the historical understanding that states' rights have always been a means to an end, rather than an end in itself.

As a long-term presenter to CNYCSS, Dr. Egerton will use this particular narrative to arrive at new compelling questions that students can be asked about this history, and will sharpen our broader understanding of how arguments shift in the context of events, societal goals and power struggles.
